TRIM

Why do we use solid brass nail trim? Because we'd know if we use lesser quality, less expensive steel nails with a brass finish. Besides, in time you'd know, when they begin to rust.. Each individual nail is set by hand, not machine. It takes human hands to precisely place each nail, sensing the ever changing thickness and textures of the top grain leather. A mechanized pneumatic nail machine does not have the tactical senses to produce the refined end product, and quite frankly, we hope they are never developed. Old world craftsmanship is still alive in our trim department.

SEAT SUSPENSION

Because you spend one third of your life on your mattress, you wouldn't consider anything less than coil springs for comfort and support that will last. We feel the same about our seat suspension. We employ steel coil springs for durability that are strategically placed and eight-way hand tied. This affords you deep seating comfort and is guaranteed for a lifetime. We never use synthetic or rubber straps which can deteriorate, sag or break. Our techniques and methods are time tested. Don't be misled by remarks such as "it's the latest European technology", etc. In most cases it's cheaper, not better. We are so confident our frames and springs will perform for as long as you own your piece of furniture.

SEAT CUSHIONS & PILLOWS

Foam Blend Down | This cushion is comprised of a combination of two foams in the core. The inner core is high-density foam to insure support and a layer of soft plush foam is added to give an initial soft comfort sit. This combination foam core is then enclosed in a 80%-20% blend of fibers and feather/down. This poly/feather/down mixture is encased in down-proof ticking, which is channeled to keep fibers smooth and separated. Foam Blend Down seats have a casual, relaxed look. Some packing of the fiber should be expected and not considered a defect. Approximately 10% of packing is expected. Occasional fluffing should be expected. Please refer to the limited warranty page for more information on the warranty for cushions. | page 142

Lounge Spring Down | This cushion is a marshall spring core unit wrapped in polyurethane foam. This core is then enclosed in a 50/50 blend of polyester fibers and fiber/down. This fiber/down mixture is encased in a down-proof ticking, which is channeled to keep fibers smooth and separated. Lounge Spring Down seats have a casual, relaxed look. Some packing of the fiber should be expected and not considered a defect. Occasional fluffing should be expected. This is a one-sided, non-flippable cushion that is offered on select styles only.

Spring Blend Down | This cushion has a marshall spring core unit wrapped in polyurethane foam. this core is then enclosed in a 80%-20% blend of polyester fibers and fiber/down. Classic Comfort | This cushion is a high-density foam core wrapped in Dacron fiber on top, bottom, and sides. This core is then encased in a non-woven cover filled with polyester blend down fiber. This cushion is allergy friendly for those who are allergic to feather/down cushions.

Blend Down Back Pillow | The ultimate fill for back cushions or throw pillows. These backs are filled with a combination polyester fibers and grey duck down/feathers enclosed in a down-proof ticking. Some packing of the fiber should be expected and not considered a defect. Occasional fluffing should be expected.

Classic Comfort Back Pillow | The fiber in our backs is conjugated polyester. This fiber is naturally non-absorbent and resists matting, clumping, and mildew. It is odorless, lint free and non-allergenic. All fibers are blown into channel-sewn back ticking. These channels help maintain the proper proportions of back filling. Some packing of the fiber should be expected and not considered a defect. Occasional fluffing should be expected.

Our cushions and back pillows are proudly crafted in America. We recognize that every frame has its own ergonomics. To achieve ultimate comfort, we offer only the most premium foams, fibers, and feathers.

LEATHER CARE

Leather Types | There are 3 available leather types - Aniline, Nubuck, and Protected - each merit specialized handling based on their individual qualities. Natural color variations expected in Aniline leathers inspire the assembly of hides to create a natural color match that flows from light to dark. No two leather tones are the same. The unique beauty of the natural medium emerges as our craftsmen leverage the harmony of the color to fan 4-5 hides across a sofa and create a one-of-a-kind piece.

Beauty Marks | Natural “beauty marks” left in the hide by fat wrinkles, ticks, and healed scars lend character, depth and authenticity to the leather’s heritage. These unique markings give every furniture piece its own distinct personality. Our cutters’ experienced eyes envision a pattern layout that preserves the quality and value inherent in the leather’s natural beauty.

Aniline | Also called “Pure Aniline” or “Naked Aniline”. Color is added to these hides much like a stain added to wood. This process allows the natural markings of the leather to show. Pure Aniline is the most honest expression of leather you can buy. All of nature’s beauty marks will be evident, in their authentic, unvarnished glory. Pure Aniline leathers get better with age, absorbing minor scratches and nicks gracefully. Over time it will be as though your own life’s history melds with the original owner’s.

Aged Aniline leathers are Pure Anilines that have had a finish added to them. A wax, oil or transparent stain is added to create additional ecstatic appeal. These wax and oil finishes will change in color when applied to the frame, helping to add highlights of colors and interest to the detailing of the frame. This helps give each piece its own distinctive look. Most wax and oil finishes will show marks and highlight wear spots. This is intentional and will give each piece a worn look over time. (Much like buying a pair of faded jeans.) Though Aged Aniline is slightly less vulnerable to stains and spills than Pure Aniline, neither is recommended for settings where “accidents” are likely a frequent occurrence. Signs of natural beauty markings include healed scars, cuts and insect bites, stretch marks, fat wrinkles, tight pores, backbone impressions and neck wrinkles. Color variations are expected throughout the hide.

Caring for Pure & Aged Aniline | Direct sunlight will rob these leathers of their richness. Attend to spills immediately with a clean white cloth, blotting, never pressing on the spill. Never use heat or soaps on these leathers. Should a spill penetrate the leather, gently massage the area with a clean white cloth lightly dampened with distilled water. Contact a professional leather cleaner for serious stains.

LEATHER CARE

Nubuck | After Aniline dyeing, these top grain leathers move on to a finishing process of gentle buffing and polishing that removes the top cell layer. The effect is a whisper-soft nap that adds a tactile pleasure to compliment the visual beauty. Buffing only slightly obscures the hide's color variations and natural markings. A wax or topical coating may be applied during finishing for additional surface interest. Signs of natural beauty markings include healed scars, cuts and insect bites, stretch marks, fat wrinkles, tight pores, backbone impressions and neck wrinkles. Color variations are expected throughout the hide.

Because structures in the skin vary, these hides absorb dye unevenly, creating significant color variations. Their surfaces are then machined with fine brushes to create the famous Nubuck "hand". This gives the leather a depth of color and shading not found in any other type.

Caring for Nubuck Aniline | Direct sunlight will rob these leathers of their richness. Attend to spills immediately with a clean white cloth, blotting, never pressing on the spill. Never use heat or soaps on these leathers. Should a spill penetrate the leather, allow the spill to dry. Use a suede brush, or vacuum with drapery attachment, and brush the nap. If additional cleaning is required, gently massage the area with a clean white cloth lightly dampened with distilled water. Allow the area to dry and, again, use a suede brush or vacuum with drapery attachment.

Protected | Protected leathers are the perfect choice for people who expect the most out of life and demand high performance from their leather. They are dyed in a process similar to painting: which does hide some of the natural characteristics of leather, such as scars ect. However, it insures a consistent color range throughout the hide. Then a clear top coat that repels spills and stains is added. This gives it a high resistance to fading, liquids, and stains.

Protected Leathers are also sometimes called Semi-Anilines. This refers to leathers that have gotten their color through a process similar to stain versus paint. It still allows the leathers natural characteristics to show up. Just like when wood on a home is stained you can see the knots and natural characteristics coming through the stain. Then a clear coat that repels spills and stains is added. This gives it a high resistance to fading, liquids and stains. Because of the top coat, the leather will not have the same soft subtle hand as found in Pure Aniline.

Caring for Protected Leathers | Although no material is totally impervious to the fading caused by sunlight, Protected leathers hold up best. Rearranging the furniture on occasion will extend the life of its rich color even further. As for spills, most should blot up without a trace. Routine cleaning with a clean white cloth dampened with distilled water will eliminate the buildup of dirt and oils that can de-color the leather over time and break down the protective coating.

*For More information about cleaning of your leather, you may want to contact Unifers North America at (888) 825-6551. This is a company that specializes in the care and cleaning of leather. They have over 200 products for leather and may be able to help you with special cleaning needs or information on how to best protect your leather. They are much like a local dry cleaning company that would handle your silks and linens. When Unifers North America products are applied correctly, Leathercraft by OHD will not void their construction warranty covering frame, seating and spring up. Unifers North America is separate company marketing their products across the United States and is in no way affiliated with Leathercraft by OHD.

When this occurs, plug the battery pack into a standard wall outlet to recharge.
4. During the charging process a LED light will constantly indicate the current status of the battery pack. A RED LED indicates the charging process is not complete. A GREEN LED indicates the battery is fully charged.

*You have the option of using the battery while it is charging but this will require a much longer charging time before the battery is fully charged.

TROUBLESHOOTING GUIDE

Problem: No Power Output from Battery Pack	Battery not Holding a Charge	LED Indicator Light Does Not Light Up When Plugged into Wall Outlet
Check the connection between the battery pack and the recline motor and check Battery status by pressing the Test button on side of unit.	The number of recline cycles the battery can execute depends on the size of the occupant and the number of accessories connected to the system such as LED lighting or USB chargers.	Confirm the AC cord is properly connected to the wall outlet and battery pack.
NO LED On: plug the battery pack into an outlet to-recharge. Wait 30 second and the RED LED will illuminate indicating it is charging.	Allow 5 hours to fully charge the battery pack. It may be beneficial to disconnect the battery pack from the furniture during the charging process.	Confirm outlet used for charging is working properly.
RED LED: this indicates the battery needs to be charged.	A fully charged battery pack should provide over 200 uses, dependent on load and accessories. The battery pack will discharge when idle.	Verify circuit breakers in the house are not tripped.
GREEN LED: indicates battery is fully charged and ready for use.	If the battery pack does not hold a charge as indicated then contact customer service at (888)987-1011 or customerservice@raffel.com.
